Database Search Tips

Tips to help you search the databases more effectively.

Each database has its own unique search rules. Refer to the “Help” section in each database to learn more.

A. The Basics

- ✓ Spell all words accurately. Do not use punctuation.
- ✓ Do not use natural language.
Example: Use “How to manage misbehaviour” instead of “Control naughty children”.
- ✓ Do not use stop words as they are ignored, even if they are enclosed in quotation marks.
Examples of stop words: a, of, in
- ✓ For exact phrases, use double quotation marks.
Example: “Yusof Ishak”

B. Keyword Searching

- ✓ Significant words or concepts in an article are indexed so that they are searchable. They can be from the title, abstract, words supplied by the author, subject headings or the text itself.

C. Look Out!

- ✓ You must search for a variety of words and word variations.
Example: children = child, children, kid, boy, or girl
- ✓ You may get incorrect results or false hits.
Example: If you are searching for psychological aid for stressed-out children, you may retrieve records that are not what you are looking for, such as this title: “Persistent Mental Health Problems Among AIDS-Orphaned Children”.

D. Making Your Searches Precise

✓ Use Boolean Operators:

Boolean operators are connectors placed between search terms to narrow or expand a search. Examples of Boolean Operators are (i) AND, (ii) OR, (iii) NOT.

(i) AND

Helps to narrow a search.

All these terms must be present in the article. The more terms you link with an “and” operator, the fewer results you get.

Example: children
children and stress
children and stress and study

(ii) OR

Helps to broaden a search.

It is used for synonymous terms and either term must be present in the article. The more terms you connect with the “or” operator, the more results you get.

Example: children or adolescent or teen or kid
(children or adolescent or teen or kid) and stress
(children or adolescent or teen or kid) and (stress or tension)

(iii) NOT

Helps to narrow a search.

It eliminates an unwanted search term or group of search terms from the results.

Example: child not teen
(child not teen) and stress
(child not teen) and stress not AIDS

Singapore Infopedia

Singapore Infopedia is an electronic encyclopedia on Singapore, providing access to articles on Singapore's history, culture, people and events. Each article provides an overview of a topic and is accompanied by references that could be used to research the topic further.

- Research can be done via the search box or by selecting a topic from the categories listed.

- From the article(s) of interest, you can expand your research with accompanying recommended reads.

- There is a list of references for each article found in Singapore Infopedia. This includes reports, books as well as newspaper articles.

May the National Day spirit remain forever

NEVER in all the 16 national days did we experience a more touching display of patriotism, involvement, enthusiasm and a “oneness” as we did this year.

We would like to express our heartiest praise to the wonderful participants and all who made the event a success.

SBC must also be congratulated for its coverage of the occasion.

We hope this National Day spirit will remain with us every day of our lives.

Factiva

Factiva is an excellent source for news articles, ranging from print newspapers to web news. Factiva provides access to more than 32,000 sources from nearly every country worldwide in 28 languages, including more than 600 continuously-updated newswires.

- Key in your search term(s) either in “Free Text Search” or “Search Form”. Research can be further narrowed down using the “Source” tab.

- Use the date selector to narrow your results.

- “Publications” refers to print newspapers. “Web News” refers to online newspapers. If you need to edit your search statement at this point, click on the “Modify Search” button

The screenshot shows the Factiva search results page. At the top, there is a navigation bar with 'FACTIVA' and links for Home, Search, Newsletters, Analytics, and News Pages. Below this is a search bar with the query 'ALL OF THESE WORDS: SMRT Corp' and filters for 'DATE: In the last 6 months' and 'SOURCE: The Straits Times'. A 'Modify Search' button is highlighted with a red circle. The search results are displayed in a grid format, with a 'Date' filter on the left showing a bar chart and a 'Companies' filter below it. The main content area shows two headlines: '$5.4m fine drags SMRT into the red' and 'SMRT Q2 profit inches up 1.9% to $25.7m'. A 'Search Summary' panel on the right provides details about the search criteria and results. A red line connects the 'Modify Search' button to the 'Click on the article of interest' instruction below.

- Click on the article of interest. You can email, print or save the report after browsing.

PressReader

PressReader (previously known as Library PressDisplay) is an online database that provides access to over 5000 of the world's leading newspapers and magazines from more than 100 countries. It offers advanced digital features such as keyword searching, translation, audio functionality and much more.

How do I access?

PressReader is available at all libraries and from home via NLB's eResources website: <http://eresources.nlb.gov.sg>. The access is for unlimited simultaneous users with unlimited access to the content. SPH's Straits Times, Business Times and LianHe Zaobao can only be accessed onsite at the MMS stations at NLB's libraries.

Do I need internet connection to access the downloaded eNewspapers/eMagazines?

No. Users are not required to connect to the internet as the downloaded eNewspapers/eMagazines can be accessed offline. There is also no limit to the number of titles or issues that a patron can download from PressReader.

The PressReader app allows users to read news via their mobile devices, to be kept informed, entertained and inspired every day. Currently, this app is free and is available for iOS and Android devices.

PressReader's Gifted Access

NLB offers our readers the PressReader's "Gifted Access" that allows anyone who has visited the libraries to access and download PressReader content, even after they have left NLB's physical locations. Downloaded content remains accessible on the mobile app until it is deleted by the device owner. Users will not be charged for the Gifted Access to eNewspapers and eMagazines provided by NLB.

Connect to our Wi-Fi network and download the PressReader app to get started.

If you are using a laptop, please visit www.pressreader.com and enjoy the same experience.

- To receive NLB's Gifted Access via the connection to the Hotspot, users must:
 - a. Be onsite at any of the NLB's library branches;
 - b. Install the latest version of the PressReader mobile app via Google Play or Apple App Store;
 - c. Grant the location permission to the PressReader app;
 - d. Enable the location service on the mobile device.

- To confirm whether you have connected to the Hotspot and received the "Gifted Access".

Check that there is a green coffee cup in the bottom right corner of the PressReader mobile app display. This green coffee cup appears when users are connected to the Hotspot. Users would need to enable Hotspot function under the 'Settings' tab of the PressReader mobile app before they can get connected to the PressReader's Hotspot.

ProQuest

ProQuest serves as a central pool of resources for researchers of all levels. Covering over 160 subjects, ProQuest Central is the largest aggregated database of periodical content. This award-winning online reference resource features a highly respected, diversified mix of content including scholarly journals, trade publications, magazines, books, newspapers (includes The Straits Times from 2011 to present day), reports and videos.

- Find the required resources via the search box. Search results can be further refined by “Source type” and/or “Document type”.

The screenshot shows the ProQuest Central Advanced Search page. At the top, there are navigation links for Basic Search, Advanced Search, Publications, Browse, and About. The main search area is titled 'Advanced Search' and includes tabs for 'Common Line', 'Thesaurus', 'Field codes', and 'Search tips'. A search box contains the text 'global warming'. To the right, there are dropdown menus for 'In' (set to 'Anywhere') and 'All' (set to 'Anywhere'). Below the search box, there are options for 'AND' and 'OR' to combine search terms. There are also checkboxes for 'Limit to' (Full text, Peer reviewed) and a 'Publication date' dropdown (set to 'All dates'). A 'Search' button and a 'Clear form' link are at the bottom right.

- Use the panel on the left to further refine your search results.

The screenshot shows a search engine interface with the query "global warming" AND ("carbon emissions" OR "greenhouse effects") in the search bar. Below the search bar, there are options for "Full text" and "Peer reviewed". A "Related searches" section is visible, with a "View all" link circled in red. The main results area shows 64,645 results. On the left, a filter panel is open, showing options like "Full text", "Peer reviewed", and "Source type". The "Source type" section lists various categories such as Newspapers (36,767), Trade Journals (9,038), Wire Feeds (7,426), Scholarly Journals (4,971), and Magazines (2,697). A red circle highlights the "Full text" option in the filter panel, with a red arrow pointing to the text "search result" below it.

- Use the “View all” tab under “Related searches” for more suggested subjects

The screenshot shows a "Related searches" pop-up window. The window has a title bar with "Related searches" and a close button. Below the title, there is a message: "Click a link below to search for documents on the related search." Below this message, there is a list of search suggestions, including: "Global warming AND Emissions", "Global warming AND Carbon", "Global warming AND Greenhouse effect", "Global warming AND Carbon dioxide", "Global warming AND Climate change", "Global warming AND Greenhouse gases", "Global warming AND Emissions control", "Carbon emissions", "Carbon emissions AND Climate change", "Carbon emissions AND Environment", "Carbon emissions AND Global warming", "Carbon emissions AND Sustainability", "Carbon emissions AND Environmental protection", "Carbon AND Emissions", "Emissions AND Greenhouse effect", "Carbon AND Greenhouse effect", and "Global warming AND Carbon dioxide emissions". At the bottom right of the window, there is a "Close" button.

Mahalia Mouse Goes to College

Narrated by John Lithgow, himself!!!

After young Mahalia Mouse, who lives under an old Harvard dormitory, is sent to search for food for her family, she finds herself trapped in a student's dark backpack. She escapes when he unzips his bag in a classroom, but she becomes entranced by the professor's lecture on atoms in space and stays to take notes. The students panic when they spot her, but the professor sees Mahalia's potential ("This mouse is a genius!"), and he makes her stay at school for four glorious years to get her degree.

Apabi eBooks

The Apabi Digital Library of Chinese eBooks is a constantly growing library collection of Chinese eBooks covering arts, agriculture, aerospace, business and management, economics, education, history, law, literature, and many other subjects. Currently, you can search and browse Apabi eBooks titles using public terminals at NLB libraries. To download and read Apabi eBooks you need to access the Apabi Library using your own computer. You also need to install the free Apabi Reader, which is available from: <http://www.apabi.com/soft/MLReaderSetup.exe>. Available at all libraries and from home.

- Click on “下载” Apabi Reader to download the eReader software on your computer.

- Click on 借阅 to read the eBook using the Apabi eReader. Click on 在线阅读 to read it online on your Internet browser.
- Once the eBook is downloaded, you can read it. Adjust the text size if needed. You can click on the left panel to jump to other chapters.

- The eBook will be returned automatically on its due date.

OneSearch

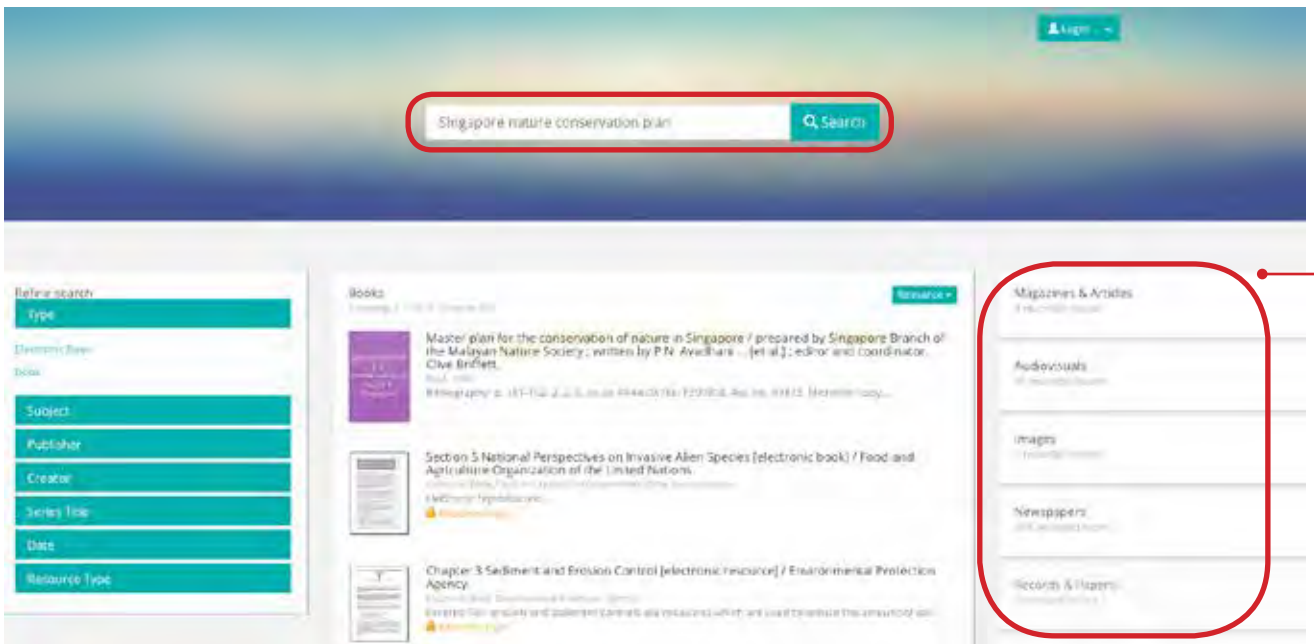

OneSearch (<http://search.nlb.gov.sg/>) is an online search portal that helps you retrieve a wide range of digital content from resources such as books, magazines, audio-visual materials, eBooks, photographs, films, oral history interviews and maps residing in the NLB's libraries and archives databases and NHB's repository.

- To access all findings on OneSearch, you need to login using your mylibrary ID.

- The libraries' databases include:
 - a. Library Catalogue: Electronic directory of NLB's collection of physical books, journals, magazines, CDs and DVDs
 - b. NLB Overdrive: Online platform where eBooks, audiobooks, eFlicks can be borrowed
 - c. BookSG: Collection of digitised books and other printed materials related to Singapore and Southeast Asia
 - d. Infopedia: Electronic encyclopaedia of Singapore's history, culture, people and events
 - e. MusicSG: Digital archive of musical works published in Singapore
 - f. NewspaperSG: Digital archive of newspapers published between 1831 and 2009
 - g. National Online Repository Of The Arts (NORA): Online platform to showcase literary works by prominent Singapore writers
 - h. PictureSG: Digital collection of pictures, photographs and artworks of Singapore from NLB, donors and partners
 - i. Singapore Memory Project: Online repository of stories, audio files, videos files and images about Singapore submitted by the public

- For example, if you like to search for “Singapore Nature Conservation Plan”, key the phrase in the search box circled in red below.
- You can further refine your search results by clicking on the type of source.

- If you click on the first result “Master plan for the conservation of nature in Singapore”, they will refer you to the NLB catalogue to find the book in our libraries as shown below.

- Due to copyright and permissions policies, access to some content is limited from home.

a. Accessing full records from the archives

For records such as audiovisual recordings as well as selected oral history interviews that are not available online due to copyright restrictions or conditions imposed by interviewees, you are advised to call and arrange with the Archives Reading Room (ARR) at the National Archives of Singapore to view the access copies of the records.

b. Accessing full records from libraries

To access the full copies of records from MusicSG and NewspaperSG, please visit any of the Public Libraries or the Lee Kong Chian Reference Library. We have set up dedicated multimedia stations where you may do your research.
